

About "DAVID W5MZ"

He is a veteran amateur radio operator with an engineering and network security background specializing in off grid communication and digital privacy.

He has been doing digital over the air networking since before the Internet was public and has explored almost every facet of radio communications over many many years. He has been vocal on talk radio about communication and preparedness for years.

Website: w5mz.com