

About Gerard Francis Lameiro

Author | Philosopher | Economist | Engineer

Gerard Francis Lameiro Ph.D. is an author, philosopher, economist, and engineer. He is the author of four books and is a popular TV and Talk Radio show guest that did 469 media interviews across America and around the world in 2016. All of those interviews dealt with the 2016 presidential election and/or the subsequent presidential transition.

Dr. Lameiro has worked on many political campaigns in various roles, including Ronald Reagan's 1976 and 1980 presidential election campaigns. Dr. Lameiro was a member of the 1980 Presidential Electoral College and personally cast one electoral vote for Ronald Reagan for President of the United States of America.

He was the Founder and CEO of Lameiro Economics LLC, a company focused on bringing practical economic knowledge about freedom, economic growth, and prosperity to America and to the world. He was a member of Hewlett-Packard's Strategy and Corporate Development team. He was the worldwide President of the Association of Energy Engineers (AEE) and a National Science Foundation Post-Doctoral Fellow. He was also an Assistant Professor in Colorado State University's College of Business.

Dr. Lameiro is an expert in presidential election campaigns, analytics, complex computer modeling, forecasting political and economic events, as well as economic growth modeling. Within economics, his sub-specialties are pro-growth tax, spending, regulatory, and monetary policies.

Dr. Lameiro's technical background includes: static, dynamic, and stochastic simulation models; differential equations; numerical analysis; linear algebra; optimization theory; advanced probability and statistical analysis; Markov, birth and death, epidemic, and other stochastic processes; scientific computing; financial models, economic models, forecast models, and business models.

Dr. Lameiro became Founder and CEO of Lameiro Economics LLC, a company focused on bringing practical economic knowledge about freedom, economic growth and prosperity to America and to the world.