

About Mitch Meyers - Co-Owner of BeLeaf Company

Mitch Meyers of Glen Carbon, MO back launched the first medical cannabis cultivation center and dispensary in Missouri. The 5,000 square-foot facility is located in a former Verizon customer care center located in a nondescript office park in Earth City, Mo.

For Meyers, a former Anheuser-Busch marketing executive, her commitment to her company, BeLeaf, represents a big leap of faith in a plant and in an industry that are both still widely misunderstood.

BeLeaf specializes in the cultivation and sale of a strain of cannabis rich with cannabidiol, or CBD.

CBD oil has shown great success, at least preliminarily, in the treatment of the symptoms of the most severe categories of epilepsy, especially among children who, despite conventional drugs, can suffer hundreds of debilitating seizures per week.
