

About Piers Warren

Piers Warren is a wildlife film-maker and author living in rural Norfolk UK. He has walked the African plains with Maasai Warriors, tracked tigers in India on elephant-back, explored the Amazon rainforest, swum with sharks, trekked across Tanzanian deserts on a camel and filmed cheetahs hunting in Kenya. But his favourite place is the North Norfolk coast, where he spends his time capturing the flora and fauna on film ... and looking for pawprints in the sand.
