

FEATURED IN THE FILM - VAXXED

Polly Tommey is the mother of Billy, a 20-year old boy with autism, a book author, founding Editor-in-Chief of the world's preeminent autism magazine The Autism File, and Autism Media Channel's TV host and award-winning documentary film producer ("Who Killed Alex Spourdalakis").

An outspoken autism advocate and founder of the not-for-profit Autism Trust in the UK and US, Polly has appeared in print and television media around the globe, gone head-to-head with top political leaders, and never compromised.

She has received multiple nominations and awards from, among others, The Women of The Year Foundation, Red magazine, and the British Society of Magazine Editors.

She is also a Producer on "Vaxxed: From Cover-Up to Catastrophe."
