

About Stewart Rhodes

Stewart Rhodes is Founder and Director of Oath Keepers www.oathkeepers.org.

Stewart Rhodes, ex-paratrooper, disabled vet, ex-firearms instructor, former Ron Paul staff member, Yale Law grad/Research Scholar, & Montana/Nevada lawyer. Stewart has written for Gerry Spence's The Warrior, for moreliberty.org, writes the Enemy at the Gate column for S.W.A.T. Magazine, and is writing a book on the dangers of applying the laws of war to the American people in the "war on terror."

After graduating from high school, he entered the United States Army where he served as a paratrooper and airborne reconnaissance scout for the 9th Infantry Division at Fort Lewis Washington until disabled in a rough terrain parachuting accident during a night jump. He worked as a certified firearms instructor while attending college, and was a member of Rep. Ron Paul's DC staff before entering Yale Law School. Upon graduation from law school, in 2004, where he was a Research Scholar and assisted teaching U.S. military history, he clerked for Arizona Supreme Court Justice Michael D. Ryan.

Stewart Rhodes is the founder of Oath Keepers. Oath Keepers is a non-partisan association of currently serving military, veterans, peace officers, and firefighters who will fulfill the oath we swore to support and defend the Constitution against all enemies, foreign and domestic, so help us God.
